
OUR STORY

THE STRENGTH OF A NETWORK WITH THE POWER OF INDEPENDENCE

WE KNOW YOU HAVE OPTIONS, SO WHAT MAKES US DIFFERENT?

Direct Office Products Depot (OPD) are part of a Co-operative business model, The Office Products Depot Group, with 30 dealerships across NZ. Together we form one of the largest leading national providers of workplace solutions in NZ. Having 30 OPD independently owned dealerships, enables us to provide you with a national distribution network across provincial and metropolitan NZ, unmatched by any competitor.

We, here at Direct OPD, are the largest dealership in the OPD Group with 4 locations based in Avondale, Albany, Wellington and Christchurch. Our people live and breathe the OPD brand tag lines of “We Love Your Work” and “No One Loves Your Office Like We Do”. The Heart paperclip you see in our logo represents the passion, heart and soul of how we approach your business.

Our multi-award winning teams at Direct Office Products Depot are driven and focused on providing you with a service experience you simply will not find anywhere else. With the powerful support and buying power of our Trans-Tasman business partnerships and leading NZ brand names, we are large enough to be competitive but small enough to care. Our amazing teams have combined industry knowledge of 500 years+, we know a thing or two about the NZ Office Products industry and we would love to share and support your business with this knowledge.

Our customers are wide and varied, from home and small offices through to large and multi-site national corporates. The OPD workplace business solutions include everyday office supplies, cafeteria supplies, packaging, safety products, health and hygiene services, office design and furniture – and much much more! We stock in excess of 6000 products on the OPD website alone. Better still, if you can't find what you need in our standard range, we will go the extra mile to source it for you! With the ability to move quickly and deliver tailored solutions, our relationship is based on how you want to work – we won't ask you to fit in a box.

If you are new to Direct OPD, then welcome! We hope you join us on our journey and be a part of our story. We would love to get to know your business better so if you would like to talk more or meet with us (coffee and cupcakes are on us), give us a call or email us now.
